Subject: Inviting views/suggestions on the draft Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill, 2005.

It is well known that the forest dwelling scheduled tribes are residing on their ancestral lands and their habitat for generations and from times immemorial and there exists a spatial relationship between the forest dwelling scheduled tribes and the biological resources in India. They are integral to the very survival and sustainability of the forest eco systems, including wildlife. In fact, the tribal people are inseparable with the ecosystem, including wildlife, and cannot survive in isolation.

2. The rights of forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes who are inhabiting the forests for generations and are in occupation of forest land have, however, not been adequately recognized so far resulting in historical injustice to these forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes.

3. The Ministry of Tribal Affairs was mandated to formulate a comprehensive legislation to redress this historical injustice done to tribal community and for clear assertion of their legal rights on land. A Technical Support Group (TSG), comprising the representatives of the Ministries concerned and some reputed experts having rich experience and deep association with the cause of environmental protection and welfare of tribal people, was accordingly constituted, under the Chairpersonship of Secretary (Tribal Affairs) to formulate the Scheduled Tribes and Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill. Director General (Forests), Ministry of Environment & Forests was also one of the members of the Group. After a series of meetings of the TSG, the Ministry of Tribal Affairs has formulated a draft Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill, 2005.

4. It has been decided to invite the views/comments/suggestions from the members of the public, the social activists, academicians, anthropologists, the experts working for the cause of environmental protection and welfare of tribal people and other stake holders on the proposed legislation before action to finalise and enact the Bill is taken as per the established procedure. A note containing the background of the case, the existing legislative / policy frame of the Ministry of Environment and Forests on the subject, the main features of the proposed Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill, 2005, the checks and balances provided in the proposed Bill as also a copy of the proposed Bill is Annexed.

5. The views and suggestions on the provisions of the proposed legislation may be conveyed at the following address, either through E-mail or by Post, by 10th July, 2005 positively:

NOTE ON THE "SCHEDULED TRIBES (RECOGNITION OF FOREST RIGHTS) BILL, 2005"

Background

The rights of forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes who are inhabiting the forests for generations and are in occupation of forest land have not been adequately recognized so far resulting in historical injustice to these forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes who are integral to the very survival and sustainability of the forest ecosystem.

1. Scheduled Tribes are living in Forests for generations and are integral to very survival and sustainability of Forests:

It is well known that the forest dwelling scheduled tribes are residing on their ancestral lands and their habitat for generations and from times immemorial and there exists a spatial relationship between the forest dwelling scheduled tribes and the biological resources in India. They are integral to the very survival and sustainability of the forest eco systems, including wildlife. In fact, the tribal people are inseparable with the ecosystem, including wildlife, and cannot survive in isolation.

2. Non recognition of their rights during the process of consolidation of Forests:

The traditional rights of FDSTs on forest lands were, however, not adequately recognized and recorded in the consolidation of state forests during the colonial period as well as in Independent India though Indian Forest Act 1927 had provided for the determination of rights. However, the reservation processes for creating forest areas coupled with historical factors prevalent at that time in respect of excluded and partially excluded areas and emphasis on production forestry somehow left the bona fide interests of the tribal community unrecognized and recorded. The problems of these communities were further compounded after passing of the Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980 when even the development activities in their habitations were termed as non-forestry activities. They still do not even have a homestead and as such address of their own. They are people without identities.

3. Permanent threat of eviction from their own land:

The non-recognition of the rights of the FDSTs over land who have been living in forests since time immemorial has been attracting public attention since pre-independent India. Due to non-recognition of forest rights of FDSTs, who have been very deeply rooted in the forest areas for ages, have come to be erroneously looked upon as encroachers of forest lands and the threat of eviction consistently looms large in their psyche. Insecurity of tenure and fear of eviction from these lands where they have lived and thrived for generations are perhaps the biggest reasons why tribal communities feel emotionally as well as physically alienated from forests and forest lands. All these factors have resulted in historical injustice to them.

4. Non-Conferment of ownership rights over MFP in terms of Provisions of PESA, 1996

Inadequate implementation of the Provisions of the Panchayats (Extension to the Scheduled Areas) Act, 1996, by non-transfer of control/ownership over the natural resources, including the Minor Forest Products to the local communities and by non extension of PESA Act to the entire scheduled areas, including forest areas, have further compounded their miseries. Although the Provisions of the Panchayats (Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act, 1996 (PESA) gives the rights of ownership of MFP to the respective local communities, the collection and trade of most of the high value MFP is largely monopolized by the Corporations of the Forest Department of the States and poor FDSTs are just employed by the contractors only as wage earners.

5. Even fruits of Developments Schemes Denied:

The condition of the FDSTs traditionally living in their habitat in symbiotic relationship with the ecosystem is further becoming far more precarious and vulnerable due to displacement threats in view of ever increasing demand for conservation of forests on one hand, and tardy implementation of developmental activities for welfare of FDSTs on the other, which is mainly due to non-availability of clear cut title of land in their favour. The poor FDSTs living in forest lands for ages cannot take benefits even under various schemes of the Government such as "Indira Awas Yojana".

6.Existing Legislative/Policy Frame of the Ministry of Environment & Forests:

The Government has been taking a consistent view on this central theme of integrating FDSTs living in and around forests in to every aspect of managing forests. All policy statements, including the Forest Policy, 1988, circulars, guidelines, Government Orders issued by the Ministry of Environment and Forests have been espousing the cause of tribal communities and emphasising the need for putting these communities at the centre of any conservation measures. Relevant excerpts of some of the important policies of MOEF are as under:

- The Forest Policy, 1988 stresses that forests are a first charge to the tribal communities and their domestic and livelihood needs are paramount and superior to any other commercial needs.
- The National Forest Policy of 1988, while recognizing the symbiotic relationship between tribal people and forests, also safeguards the customary rights and interests of the tribal people and forest dwellers on forest lands.
- This policy provided for the association of tribal people closely in the protection regeneration and development of forest with a view to provide gainful employment to the people living in and around the forest, with special attention to:
 - (i) replacement of contractors by tribal cooperatives,
 - (ii) protection, regeneration and optimum collection of MFP along with institutional arrangements for the marketing of such produce,
 - (iii) development of forest villages on par with revenue villages, family oriented schemes for improving the status of the tribal beneficiaries, and
 - (iv) undertaking integrated area development programmes to meet the needs of the tribal economy, but the fact remains that most of the high value minor Forest produce are monopolized by the State Forest Corporations and the tribals are just employed as daily wagers.

- In order to fulfill the commitments as enshrined in the National Forest Policy, 1988, the Central Government in the Ministry of Environment & Forests had issued 6 circulars on 18.9.1990 for settlement of disputed claims. As per these Circulars, the pre-1980 encroachments on forest lands were considered eligible for regularization provided the State Governments had evolved certain eligibility criteria in accordance with the local needs and conditions and had taken a decision to regularize such encroachments but could not implement their decision either wholly or partly due to enactment of the Forest (Conservation) Act 1980. These circulars provided for :
 - appointment of joint teams of Revenue, Forest and Tribal Welfare Deptt.;
 - involvement of Gram Sabhas;
 - banning agricultural practices only on certain slopes ;
 - restoration of titles to the claimants once the bonafides of the claims are established through proper inquiry;
 - demarcation of land to be restored to the claimant – no ceiling on the size of holding.
 - proposals for de-notification of forest lands along with the proposal for compensatory afforestation;
 - elimination of intermediaries and replacement of contractors by institutions such as tribal cooperatives, etc;
 - protection of tribals and non-engagement of outside labour in forestry activities;
 - conversion of forest villages which were set up in remote and inaccessible forest areas with a view to provide uninterrupted manpower for forestry operations into revenue villages.
 - accepted that it would not be appropriate to deny the inhabitants of forest village's legitimate rights over such lands which were allotted to them decades ago for settlement and have been continuously under their occupation since then.
 - restricting admissible evidences mainly to First Offence Report and thus in practical terms denying recognition. (There are large number of other documentary evidences such as in Gazetteers, records created at the time of scheduling the Area and also a tribe, various revenue surveys, records of tribal research institutes, etc which were not taken into account and due to this provision the FDSTs, in the absence of First Offence Report prior to cut off date, were simply termed as encroachers in their own homeland.)

The latest guidelines of MOEF issued on 5.2.2004 extended the cut off date to December, 1993 and the client group of the MOEF guidelines was much larger and encompassed all categories of forest dwellers. The operation of these guidelines has however been stayed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

- Even the Draft National Environment Policy-2004 states that "give legal recognition to the traditional rights of forest dwelling tribes. This would remedy a serious historical injustice, secure their livelihoods, reduce possibilities of conflict with the Forest Departments, and provide long-term incentives to the tribal to conserve the forests".

7. Formulation of The Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest) Rights Bill, 2005

- It is in this background that the historical rights of the FDSTs had not been recognized despite all the legislative/policy framework of the Ministry of Environment & Forests, a decision was taken that the Ministry of Tribal Affairs would take steps to formulate a comprehensive Central Legislation to redress the historical injustice done to tribal community and for clear assertion of their legal rights on land.
- Accordingly a Technical Support Group (TSG), comprising the representatives of the Ministries concerned and some reputed experts having rich experience and deep association with the cause of environmental protection and welfare of tribal people, was constituted, under the Chairpersonship of Secretary (Tribal Affairs) to formulate the Scheduled Tribes and Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill.
- Director General (Forests), Ministry of Environment & Forests was also one of the members of the Group.
- After a series of meetings of the TSG, a draft Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill, 2005 was formulated by the Ministry of Tribal Affairs and circulated amongst the Ministries concerned for their comments.

- The draft Bill has by and large been accepted with suggestions by concerned Central Ministries, except by the Ministry of Environment & Forests.

8. The main features of the proposed Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest Rights) Bill, 2005 are as follows:

Objective:

The objective of the Bill is to undo the historical injustice by recognizing and vesting the forest rights and occupation of forest land to forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes who have been residing there for generations and who are integral to the very survival and sustainability of the forest eco-system, including wildlife, but whose rights could not be recorded.

8.1 Rights of Forest Dwelling Tribes: The Bill in Section 4 seeks to recognize and vest Forest Rights to forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes where they are scheduled. Such forest rights, as defined in Section 3, are in respect of recognition of occupation of FDST on forest land and their habitat, where they have been living for generations and include:

- to hold and live in the forest land under the individual or common occupation for habitation or for self cultivation for livelihood by a member or members of a forest dwelling Scheduled Tribe;
- rights such as nistar, by whatever name called, and uses in erstwhile princely States, Zamindari or such intermediary regimes;
- right of access to, use or dispose of minor forest produce;
- other rights of uses or entitlements such as grazing (both settled and transhumant) and traditional seasonal resource access of nomadic or pastoralist communities,;
- right of habitat and habitation for primitive tribal groups and pre- agricultural communities;
- to be exercised for bonafide livelihood needs and not for exclusive commercial purposes;
- not to exceed 2.5 ha per nuclear family of the forest dwelling Scheduled Tribe;
- to be heritable but not alienable or transferable:
- to include the responsibility of protection, conservation and regeneration of forests:

- to be registered jointly in the name of the husband and wife when it is in respect of land where a title is vested or recognized.
- To include traditional and customary rights

Further provides that no forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes shall be evicted or removed from forest land under their occupation till the recognition and verification procedure is complete.

8.2 Duties of Forest Right holders have been defined in Section 5 of Chapter III of the proposed Bill which include responsibility of not carrying out any activity that adversely affects the wild life, forests and biodiversity.

8.3 The Authorities, including their functions, have been defined in Chapter IV of the proposed Bill which include Gram Sabhas. Sub-Divisional Level Committees, District Level Committees having forest, Tribal welfare and revenue officials as members

8.4 Offences under the Act

Detailed provisions for penalty for contravention of the provision of the Act and also the offences by Government authorities under this Act have been provided in Chapter V of the proposed Bill. A simple imprisonment up to 30 days with or without a fine of Rs.5000/- has been considered appropriate as the proposed Bill also, in addition, provides for de-recognition the forest rights in case the offence is committed more than once. The penalties provided under other legislation including Indian Forest Act, 1927, the Forest Conservation Act, 1980 are in any case not barred by this Act.

8.5 Nodal Agency: The Ministry of Tribal Affairs or any other officer or authority authorized by the Central Government in this behalf shall be the Nodal Agency and shall be responsible for implementation of the Act.

9. Checks and Balances:

The proposed Bill provides for far more checks and balances than the existing Legislative / policy frame of the Ministry of Environment and Forests. The specific provisions include –

- Recognition of Forest Rights of only the FDSTs, where they are Scheduled; There is no distribution of land involved at all and Bill will not cover the entire 8.2 % ST population. Only tribes scheduled for the area living in the forests will benefit. A tribal from an outside area/State will not benefit. The Bill in actual terms will only benefit the tribal population on "as is where is basis". Only occupations as per the ground situation existing for generations are being given legal recognition so as to avoid day to day harassment by the officials.

- Recognition of the occupations existing prior to cut off date and maximum upto 2.5. ha land only is proposed ,which in fact restricts land grabbing by elites even within tribal communities. MOEF guidelines provide no such ceiling.
- All rights would be heritable but inalienable or non-transferable;
- The use of the forest rights has been restricted to the subsistence and livelihood needs alone;
- The commercial use of any kind has been specifically excluded;
- Cut-off date of 25.10.1980 has been provided in the body of the Bill. It is only a one time exercise to recognise the age old occupations as per the ground situation intended to put an end to so-called issue of encroachment forever. There is no question of abetment of fresh encroachment.
- It has been provided that the forest right holder shall not indulge in any activity that adversely affects the wild life, forest and the biodiversity in the local area.
- Penalties have been provided including de-recognition of the vested right if any offence has been committed more than once;
- Gram Sabha has been made the competent authority to initiate the process of recognition of rights and preparation of the records but it is not the final authority.
- Involvement of the democratic institution is in tune with the provisions of PESA Act, 1996 and aims at empowering the local communities in management of their natural resources;
- The duties of the forest right holders have been provided.
- Specific provision has also been made that the rights so recognized would include the responsibility of protection, conservation and regeneration of forests.
- It has also been specifically included that engagement in any unsustainable use or destruction of wild life, forests, or any other biodiversity or felling of trees would constitute an offence under this Act.
- The Ministry of Environment and Forests will have a role in the process of scrutiny and recognition of rights at all levels which will be clearly spelt out in the rules. In fact, the role of Ministry of Tribal Affairs will be extinguished once land rights are conferred.
- There is no move to convert forest land into agricultural holdings – the vesting of rights will be done on “AS IS WHERE IS” basis and definitely no clearing of forests or felling of trees would be permitted.

2. The proposed Bill -

- (i) only strengthens the stand taken by Ministry of Environment & Forests in their own policy statement as recent as December, 2004 on the issue of undoing historical injustice to the forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes whose ethos and culture of conservation is a central theme but who have been affected most by western notions of management of forest through emphasis on production forestry;

- (ii) seeks to provide legislative frame to the stated policy of the Ministry of Environment and Forest of regularizing all eligible cases and existing prior to the cut off date of 25.10.80;
- (iii) does not envisage elimination of legal protection for the forest cover and, in fact, proposes to secure tenurial rights of FDSTs by recognizing and vesting rights on occupation of forest lands where they are scheduled;
- (iv) encourages the participation of forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes in the conservation and regeneration measures for sustainability of the forest eco-system, including wildlife, in line with the initiatives of the Ministry of Environment & Forests relating to eco-development, Community Forest Management, Joint Forest Management, etc.;
- (v) does not envisage fresh allocation of land to tribal community but only recognizes the pre-existing rights over forest and forest land which they were deprived of during the forest reservation process, in keeping with the new forest policy which enunciates that the tribal communities need to be at the center of any conservation strategy;
- (vi) emphasizes use of forest rights only for subsistence and livelihood needs and not for commercial use of any kind and prohibits the forest rights holders from indulging in any activity harmful to wildlife, forest and bio-diversity in the area, and at the same time makes them responsible for protection, conservation and regeneration of forests on the land where their title is to be vested or recognized;
- (vii) does not preclude the operation of the Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980 and the guidelines issued by the Ministry of Environment & Forests in 1990 for settlement of rights of forest dwellers over forest land;
- (viii) does not interfere with the prohibitive clauses of Indian Forest Act, 1927, Forest (Conservation Act), 1980 or the Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972;
- (ix) supplements the efforts of the Ministry of Environment & Forests in regard to regularization of pre-1980 eligible encroachments and conversion of forest villages into revenue villages under the Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980 by providing a legislative frame to the existing date;
- (x) provides penal provisions against holders of the forest right, including de-recognition of their forest right;

- (xi) facilitates flowing of developmental benefits to the communities living in the forest both in terms of creation of infrastructure and also beneficiary oriented schemes and programmes of different line agencies, which were not available to them due to an extreme prohibitive regime of forestry laws;
- (xii) does not preclude the Ministry of Environment & Forests from taking action against the ineligible encroachers of forest land. It, in fact, provides a legislative frame work to various guidelines/policies/circulars issued by the Ministry of Environment & Forests under which historical injustice to the STs could not be undone.

3. The proposed Bill is thus only the logical culmination of the process commenced by the Ministry of Environment and Forests for settlement of the bonafide claims of forest dwelling communities in the 1990s. The Bill only provides for a legal frame work and sanctity to the ongoing administrative efforts of Ministry of Environment & Forests and uses the very language of the laws and policies of Ministry of Environment & Forests. The proposed Bill is equally conservationist and more conservative in approach compared to the 1990 and post guidelines and officially recognizes October 1980 as the cut off date for the settlement of claims.

4. The proposed Bill has been drafted so as to strike a balance and to achieve the twin objective of environmental conservation and justice to the STs by being in tune with and providing for far more stringent checks and balances than the existing Legislative / Policy frame.

5. It may be mentioned that after enactment of the Bill, the Ministry of Tribal Affairs proposes to notify the Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forest Rights) Rules for carrying out the provisions of the proposed Act. Section 6 of the proposed Bill provides that the Gram Sabha shall be the competent authority to initiate the process of the recognition of and vesting of forest rights in the forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes and a Sub-Divisional Level Committee shall examine the decision of the Gram Sabha. A District Level Committee will consider the record of forest rights prepared by the Sub-Divisional Level Committee for its final approval. Further, Section 7 of the proposed Bill also provides for constitution of a State Level Monitoring Committee for examining the record of recognition and vested rights of forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes submitted by the District Level Committee and for conducting periodic inquiry into the process of recognition and vesting through random selection of sites. The Rules to be notified after enactment of the Bill will lay down the procedure for recognition of and verification of forest rights, the procedure to be followed by the authorities at all levels under the Act, the authorities under the Act, including their composition, and the nature of evidence to be taken into account for recognition and vesting of forest rights. It is proposed to provide in the Rules that the authorities would consist of officials from the department of Revenue, Forests, Tribal Welfare and reputed members of civil society so as to provide a well defined procedure of involving Gram Sabha i.e. the democratic institution, officials of concerned departments and reputed members of the civil society.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Forest dwelling tribal people and forests are inseparable. One cannot survive without the other. The conservation of ecological resources by forest dwelling tribal communities have been referred to in ancient manuscripts and scriptures. The colonial rule somehow ignored this reality for greater economic gains and probably for good reasons prevalent at that time. After independence, in our enthusiasm to protect natural resources, we continued with colonial legislation and adopted more internationally accepted notions of conservation rather than learning from the country's rich traditions where conservation is embedded in the ethos of tribal life. The reservation processes for creating wilderness and forest areas for production forestry somehow ignored the bona fide interests of the tribal community from legislative frame work in the regions where tribal communities primarily inhabit. The simplicity of tribals and their general ignorance of modern regulatory frameworks precluded them from asserting their genuine claims to resources in areas where they belong and depended upon. The modern conservation approaches also advocate exclusion rather than integration. It is only recently that forest management regimes have in their policy processes realised that integration of tribal communities who depend primarily on the forest resource cannot but be integrated in their designed management processes. It underlines that forests have the best chance to survive if communities participate in its conservation and regeneration measures. Insecurity of tenure and fear of eviction from these lands where they have lived and thrived for generations are perhaps the biggest reasons why tribal communities feel emotionally as well as physically alienated from forests and forest lands. This historical injustice now needs correction before it is too late to save our forests from becoming abode of undesirable elements.

2. It is, therefore, proposal to enact a law laying down a procedure for recognition and vesting of forest rights in forest dwelling Tribes. The recognition of forest rights enjoyed by the forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes on all kinds of forest lands for generations and which includes both bona fide needs of forest land for sustenance and usufructs from forest based resources are the fundamental basis on which the proposed legislation stands.

3. The Bill, inter alia, provides for the following matters, namely:—

(i) it reinforces and utilises the rich conservation ethos that tribal communities have traditionally shown and cautions against any form of unsustainable or destructive practices;

(ii) it lays down a simple procedure for recognition and vesting of forest rights in the forest dwelling Scheduled Tribes so that rights, which stand vested in forest dwelling tribal communities, become legally enforceable through corrective measures in the formal recording system of the executive machinery;

(iii) it provides for adequate safeguards to avoid any further encroachment of forests and seeks to involve the democratic institutions at the grassroots level in the process of recognition and vesting of forest rights;

(iv) it addresses the long standing and genuine felt need of granting a secure and inalienable right to those communities whose right to life depends on right to forests and thereby strengthening the entire conservation regime by giving a permanent stake to Scheduled Tribes dwelling in the forests for generations in symbiotic relationship with the entire ecosystem.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.
